Main Line Unitarian Church Donates Monthly Offering to Tredyffrin & Easttown Care

DEVON, Pa. – Main Line Unitarian Church (MLUC) recently presented a check for $2,735.85 to Tredyffrin & Easttown Care, a local nonprofit that provides families lacking adequate resources with basic amenities. Since October, MLUC has been donating 50 percent of offerings collected each month to a selected charity whose work is an extension of MLUC’s ministry.

“As a community of faith, we are mindful of our neighbors who, during these difficult economic times, are struggling to make ends meet. Our church believes that unselfish, unbiased service to humanity is one of the hallmarks of real spiritual depth. We are delighted to have found in Tredyffrin & Easttown Care such an outstanding volunteer organization, committed to the same core values, with which to partner in service to our local community,” explains Rev. Dr. Justin Osterman, Senior Minister at MLUC.

Sandi Gorman, Board Member at Tredyffrin & Easttown Care explains that this year there was the need to help families with utility bills and therefore the organization decided to designate MLUC's donation in an account for those requests. "With winter upon us, the oil bills and PECO bills especially are very significant for many people. This money will go a long way to help ease the pain of paying those bills. We are thrilled to have these funds in an account that will help us cover a request that comes in during the winter months," says Gorman.
