TURN BAGS INTO BUCKS FOR CHARITY

The Whole Foods store in Devon has again selected Tredyffrin and Easttown Care (T&E Care) as one of the recipients for the January 18-April 17 Nickels for Nonprofits Program.

T&E Care President Sandi Gorman explains, "This program allows customers to donate their 5-cent bag refund to local nonprofit organizations instead of receiving it themselves. If you shop at Whole Foods, and bring your own bags, please be sure to mention T&E Care when you check out. If you don't say anything, T&E Care won't get your nickel!"

"Last year, T&E Care received almost $1,000 from Whole Foods. Many thanks to Whole Foods for supporting these fundraising efforts."

right decisions in the often complex and overwhelming college applications and admissions process. According to the library, Vanni is "fully engaged in helping you make the right decision for you — a great way to augment high school counseling efforts." The workshops are being offered at the library on successive Sundays, April 3, 10, 17, and 24, from 3:00-4:30 p.m.

DEVON PREP STUDENTS BACK BELIEFS WITH BABY SUPPLIES

In January, members of the Devon Prep School's Pro-Life Club backed their convictions with action by collecting baby supplies to help families in need. The items were collected during the club's January Baby Supplies Drive which benefits needy mothers and their babies in the five-county Philadelphia area. About $1,300 in baby items, including diapers, formula, and wipes, were donated by the Devon Prep community. The donations were distributed through the Archdiocese of Philadelphia's Catholic Social Services' Family Service Centers. ■
