RADNOR » T&E Care hosted its 12th annual fundraiser, Fall Fest, on November 9 at St. Davids Golf Club. Fall Fest helps T&E Care meet its mission of providing financial and material assistance to people in the Tredyffrin and Easttown townships. The event's theme this year was "An Evening Under the Stars," which featured raffles, dinner, desserts and jazz music played by local band, Three and One. Pennsylvania

Trust - a wealth management firm in Radnor - served as the presenting sponsor of the event.

This year, at its most successful fundraiser to date, T&E Care honored Board Chairman, John "Jump" Dautrich, for his dedicated charitable service to the organization and the community. Many tributes were made to Dautrich including those from his two children, Chris Dautrich and Cinda Dautrich Johnson. During her tribute to her father, Johnson announced the creation of the John Dautrich Hero Fund which will be used when special requests for assistance come to T&E Care. Sandi Gorman, co-founder of T&E Care, said, "Tributes to Dautrich's huge heart and kind spirit went on and on," during the evening.

In the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina in 2005, several residents of the T&E townships generously pooled their resources together to support three families who chose to relocate from

New Orleans to the Main Line. Since then, this support system has evolved to become T&E Care, a non-profit founded by Sandi and Kirk Gorman and comprised entirely of volunteers that band together to help families in Tredyffrin and Easttown.

"Pennsylvania Trust was honored to be the presenting sponsor for T&E Care's 12th annual Fall Fest," said Rich Merrihan, Chairman of Pennsylvania Trust. "Jump and this organization care so deeply for our community and for helping our neighbors who need it most, and we are proud to be contributors to their efforts."

Organizers of the event included chairs Melissa Acton and MJ Chiles. Their committee chairs were: Elizabeth Wilson, Jenny Rosback, Jennifer Roessler, Jeanne Dechiario, Karen Cruickshank, Eileen Kraut, Stacy Stone, Irene Gallagher, Christina Arnault, Connie Egan, Audrey Kese, Cathy Duffy, and Susan Cantando.
